

All Home Directories Submit Info Forms Resources Divisions Libraries NG.com For Me HR Calendars Por

Week in Review

NG Insider's featured stories

Article posted by Karen Gilmour

June 25 - 29, 2007

Thursday

Growing NG Live!

National Geographic Live! is in five cities now -- Washington, D.C.; Seattle; Chicago; Minneapolis; and as of this week, Phoenix. Andy va Duym says the program series is "definitely in an expansion mode." N Live! looks for a strong local partner for its venues. In Phoenix, progra will be held at the Mesa Arts Center. Photo courtesy of the center.

Friday

Creative collaboration

National Geographic's new post production tape library is ready for business beginning today -- testament to a collaborative effort between Digital Media and NGT. The two have maintained separate libraries; now some operations will be shared. The library will serve NGT's production needs, and Digital Media will have more timely access to NGT material plus greater ease in tracking video. "This is a new era for Digital Media and NGT," said DM Direc of Archives and Cataloguing Phil Spiegel. "And we'll continue to find new wa to work efficiently together." Photo by Kate Baylor